

More information and resources

Ontario has a health and safety “system” which includes the following partners:

Ministry of Labour

Develops, communicates and enforces occupational health and safety requirements and employment standards. Develops, coordinates and implements strategies to prevent workplace injuries and illnesses and can set standards for health and safety training.

Health & Safety Ontario

Four health and safety associations that provide sector specific consulting, training, products and services. <http://www.healthandsafetyontario.ca>

- Infrastructure Health and Safety Association – serves electrical, construction and transportation sectors. 1---800---263---5024
- Public Services Health and Safety Association – serves health, education and municipal sectors. 1---877---250---7444
- Workplace Safety North – serves mining, pulp and paper and forestry sectors. 1---888---730---7821
- Workplace Safety and Prevention Services – serves industrial, farming and service sectors. 1---877---494---9777

The system is there to serve everyone in the workplace – employers, supervisors and workers.

Another place you can go for information is the Canadian Centre for Occupational Health and Safety. They have information and fact sheets on their website. If you are having trouble finding information, you can ask questions by telephone at 1---800---668---4284 or through their website at www.ccohs.ca .
